5×8 is 40. (5×8 makes a nice stepping stone, since children's familiarity with 5s from their early years of arithmetic usually make the $\times 5$ facts easy to learn.) 6×8 is just one more group of 8 than 5×8 . So, you can just add $40 + 8$ to find the answer: $6 \times 8 = 48$. This strategy works for all of the $\times 6$
